

ABSTRACT

A postcard generator includes an image capture device for capturing and storing an image. The postcard generator also stores a postcard format. The postcard generator receives a supply of print media and prints, using an in-built printer, a postcard having a printed image on one side and the 5 postcard format on the other side. The postcard format includes an address zone and a token indicating that postage has been paid.